

I spent three years as an early employee at Heroic, a personal development company that raised $25M+, where I built and scaled the entire paid acquisition engine. But I've always had the founder gene. While still at Heroic, I co-founded iceKore on the side and turned it into Denmark's leading cold plunge brand. Now, after ending my time at Heroic, I'm fully committed to building something fast and with real large-scale impact. I've spent the last month shipping five independent products across health tech, AI, and programmatic SEO. Project Builders Lab is exactly the structure and intensity I'm looking for to take the next step.

Self-taught. Every skill built through real projects, real budgets, and real accountability.

WHY PROJECT BUILDERS LAB

After three years scaling growth at a $25M+ company, I know how to build and market products. After co-founding iceKore, I know how to start from nothing. And after shipping five products in the last month, I know this is what I want to do full-time. My experience maps directly to your focus areas: Edu-Tech (scaled Heroic's learning platform), HR-Tech / Talent-Tech (built within the talent industry), and Media-Tech (ran large-scale content and paid operations). I'm not looking for an internship. I'm looking for the right environment to build something real, fast, with a team that matches my intensity. PBL is that environment. Based in Copenhagen, fully available to relocate to Stockholm.
